Will ask city to drop air pollution program

By HARRY BARNES

Abolishment of the Granite Air Pollution Control program and curtailment of personnel in most other city departments will be recommended to the City Council Tuesday night, it was learned by the Press-Record today.

The recommendations will be made by Alderman Paul R. Bowler, chairman of the council's finance committee, as "the only means" of avoiding deficit financing during the city's 1980-81 fiscal year.

The only exceptions to the cutback suggestions are the police, fire and ambulance services which Bowler said are the primary vital services given the city's residents and therefore should be retained at their present personnel levels.

Cuts in the personnel of the inspection department and the city's secondary sewage treatment plant also should be made, Bowler said.

Bowler and his committee which includes Aldermen Warren Decatur and Fred "Pat" Schuman have been preparing the city's 1980-81 budget which must be adopted before July 31. He said it is obvious that the city will face a deficit during the current year, which began May 1, unless drastic steps are taken to curb spending. He noted that Granite City this year has a 14 percent unemployment rate and the city faces reductions in motor fuel tax allotments and possibly a loss of all or part of its federal revenue sharing funds.

The only alternative to a curb on city spending would be a "substantial tax increase," Bowler said.

In a statement which he said he will present to the council during its regular meeting Tuesday night, Bowler said:

"The Finance Committee would like to stress that we must now determine our immediate, short-term needs and objectives in order to properly finance our city for the next 12 months. Any planning beyond one year in duration would be specious and invalid, based on today's economy.

"We propose to roll back all personnel except in the essential service areas of police protection, fire protection and ambulance care. These three services are the most important that our city can offer, and must maintain the high standards of excellence we began when our local population was at a peak. It must also be emphasized that, in communities that have not maintained adequate fire, police and ambulance protection and safeguards, the crime statistics become staggering. Even so-called non-violent crimes such as burglary, forgery, or welfare-fraud would increase if services diminished.

The reasons for these cut-backs are complex and far-reaching. The Finance Committee determined that there may be deficit spending already in the next year. It is, therefore, fiscally irresponsible to try to budget items on monies that we may or may not receive. For example, regarding the federal revenue sharing money, we will not know the results in this area until October and our budget year began May 1. It is recommended, after these cuts, to make an effort to take as many people out of the remaining FRS budget without burdening the taxpayer.

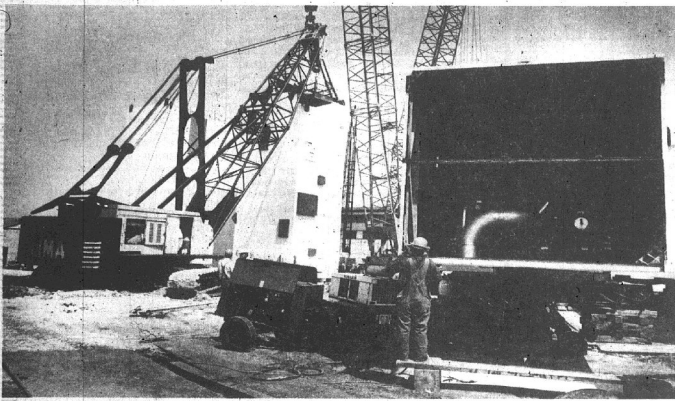

We use the money in motor fuel tax allotments to make necessary street repairs in our wards. We would like to break this down in actual motor fuel tax money. Let us use the existing figure of $500,000 we receive. If the population continues to decline, and we see no reason to believe otherwise, further revenue will be lost.

For example, we lose $12 per person when someone leaves our community. If we decrease our population by 1,000 people, our motor fuel tax revenue would also decrease $12,000. The Maryville Road project cost the taxpayers $200,000 per year. The Overpass project cost $60,000 per year. If the Senate Bill No. 1500 is passed, the result will be a cut of 35 percent off the motor fuel tax revenues or equal to $175,000 per year.

It is estimated that fuel consumption has declined between five and ten percent, using five percent for the sake of argument would decrease this fund by $25,000. Also, the U.S. Congress is considering the addition of a two to five

The boxes contain equipment used in the separation of air into its components. The largest of the boxes measures 16x17x102 feet. The equipment will increase production capacity by 700 tons per day to supply Granite City Steel with 1,100 tons of gaseous oxygen per day and 400 tons of liquid products to merchant customers when the new equipment comes on-stream in early 1981. School board names business official

The School Board on Saturday hired Curtis R. McDaniel, 42, Belleville, as the Granite City School District's new director of business affairs.

He will succeed Tully A. Heubner, who has accepted a similar position with Central Illinois College, Galesburg. The two will work together here until the end of July to assure a smooth transition on budget preparations and other mid-summer matters.

McDaniel for the past year has been the business administrator of Belleville Elementary School District 118.

McDaniel's salary was set at $31,700 per year.

From March 1974 to the fall of 1979, he was assistant director of business in the Springfield, Ill., public schools.

A graduate of Eastern Illinois University, at Charleston, McDaniel received the degree of bachelor of science there in 1965, majoring in business and accounting, with a minor in economics.

He obtained the degree of master of arts in educational administration in December 1978 at Sangamon State University, Springfield. He holds the administrative kindergarten through 12th grade certificate, with the chief school business official endorsement.

McDaniel worked for Ernst and Ernst public accountants from 1965 to 1967 as an auditor, and at Magnavox Corp. from 1967 to 1969 as a payroll supervisor and budget coordinator.

He was employed by the University of Illinois as an accountant from September 1969 to September 1972, and then worked from September 1972 to March 1974 as director of finance in the Danville public schools, thereafter, joining the Springfield district's administrative staff.

McDaniel is a member of the Illinois and National Associations of School Business Officials.

He served on an accounting and finance liaison committee serving the LASBO and State Board of Education. And he served on an advisory committee to the Illinois State University program on school business administration.

In other business at Saturday's Granite City Board of Education meeting, the board interviewed applicants for a school personnel position, completed year-end fund transfers for the 1979-80 fiscal year ending today, and set administrative salaries for the 1980-81 school year.

GC zoning problems 'discouraging'—official says

By GARY SCHNEIDER

of the Press-Record
"It's discouraging" to sit on a volunteer zoning board for the city and the discouragement may contribute to poor attendance at some meetings, the man with the best attendance record among those on the Granite City Planning Commission told the Press-Record Friday.

Dave Morgan, chairman of the Plan Commission and director of the Granite City Housing Authority, said it is difficult to get a quorum for the meetings, because of several factors.

City residents frequently have to wait for months to have some zoning matters taken through the Plan Commission or the Board of Appeals before the Granite City Council can act on them.

"It's no wonder," Morgan remarked. "Most of these people are businessmen who don't want to get into hassles with their clients or potential clients. Some of these people are bankers, architects, salesmen and businessmen.

"A lot of these meetings are hassles and many people get really upset if you are opposing zoning for their projects. Neighbors have been known to become enemies over special use permits," Morgan added.

NEW ZONING LAW NEEDED
Another discouragement involved with being seated on the Plan Commission is the city's lack of a complete zoning ordinance, a problem which is about to be alleviated, he said. A new and more specific zoning ordinance is being prepared and should be approved by the council after public hearings next month.

"Now if someone wants to put a confectionery in a certain neighborhood, we have only two commercial zoning categories. We might have to give them the same zoning as a tavern, and once that parcel has that zoning, it can be used for anything in that category.

"People who want a confectionery in the neighborhood do not want it zoned in such a way that the confectionery later can be turned into a tavern," Morgan said.

"So," he added, "we end up giving a lot of special use permits, and those are only supposed to be granted on farm-lane highways, such as Madison Avenue or Nameoki Road.

"We recommended that the council deny a special use permit for a dentist's office in a residential neighborhood on Johnson Road and the courts turned around and said we had to let him put it there. That's what discourages businessmen from giving up their time to attend zoning board meetings," Morgan concluded.

Morgan said he fears that the actions of the court on the dentist office will cause a rash of requests for special use permits in that block, but he is hopeful there. That's what discourages businessmen from giving up their time to attend zoning board meetings," Morgan concluded.

GOT A QUORUM?

The real problem has been in getting enough members to agree to attend to constitute a quorum. It requires six of the 11 Plan Commission members to constitute a quorum and six must vote in favor of any action for it to be approved. One negative vote, if there are six members present, results in the request being denied.

The Plan Commission has had to cancel six meetings since 1976, since it was apparent there would be no quorum. Zoning requests submitted to the Plan Commission in December, 1978, had to wait until March, 1979, for their cases to be considered, since the commission was unable to achieve a quorum in either January or February, 1979.

A similar situation existed in the Board of Appeals in November and December, 1977, when it was impossible to achieve a quorum of four of the seven members. Actually, there were no meetings of the Board of Appeals held between the October, 1977, meeting and the April, 1978, meeting.

Difficulties in obtaining a quorum led Mayor Paul Schuler to issue an order that the Board of Appeals could meet and take actions, even if a quorum was not present, since the board was only an advisory body to the city council.

Thus far this year, only two actual meetings have been held, in April and May, and only three members were present at the May meeting. Action was taken on requests in January and June by a poll of the members on the telephone.

City records show that the board of Appeals has gone ahead and met without a quorum frequently. At its March, June and August meetings in 1979, only three members were present, the records show.

MOST ARE CONSCIENTIOUS
A review of the attendance at the Plan Commission and Board of Appeals meetings actually held shows a fairly high percentage of attendance by most members. Morgan, for example, has

Worker rescued at GC Steel

J.D. Evans, 55, Hartford, was rescued by Granite City ambulance personnel and fire department rescue workers after he became trapped in a pipe inside a blast furnace being relined at Granite City Steel at 10:05 a.m. Thursday. Rescue workers had to overcome a temperature of about 100 degrees and deep dropoffs in the rescue effort.

Evans was working inside a pipe in the west blast furnace and had placed a board about two feet long sideways inside the pipe to give himself a level platform on which to stand.

He was using a jack hammer, which got out of control, twisted his body and threw him down about one and one-half feet to the bottom of the tube, according to rescue workers.

A spokesman for Andco, contractor for the furnace relining, said Evans apparently re-injured an old back injury

Collide after rain Saturday

Four persons were injured when the truck of Daniel Diaz, 37, of 1746 Chestnut St., and the auto of Kathleen Gilley, 19, of 2305 Waterman Ave., collided on wet
pavement at East 23rd Street and Nameki Road at 8 p.m.
Saturday.

Kathleen Gilley was issued tickets alleging driving too fast for conditions and not having valid registration for her auto.

She told police she was southbound on Nameki Road when the traffic light turned yellow. She applied her brakes and started to slide on the wet pavement, so she decided to accelerate through the intersection.

A van was in the inside
eastbound lane of East 23rd Street, blocking the Diaz view of the oncoming car.
The van hooked its horn to try and stop Diaz from proceeding on the green light, but it was too late and Diaz drove into the intersection where the two vehicles collided, police said.

After impact, Kathleen Gilley's auto slid sideways onto the median, knocking the traffic light down, police
said.

She and two passengers in Diaz's auto were taken by a Granite City ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center
where all were released
after treatment.

Kathleen Gilley suffered an abrasion to her forehead and pain to her left leg.
Renee Summers, 17, of 2814
W. 22nd St., a passenger in Diaz' truck, suffered bruises to her forearm and pain to her left leg. The other passenger, Russell Claypool, 21, of 1739 Chestnut St.,
suffered minor injuries, but did not require extensive treatment, officials said.

Diaz later went to the medical center where he was treated for swelling to his forehead. He was released.

Car hits tree

Thomas Margason, 35, of 2421 Hodges Ave., was admitted to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for observation after his auto went into the yard at the home of Barbara Walker, 2455 E. 25th
St., and struck a tree at 10:35 p.m. Thursday.

Margason was charged with failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident. He told officers he was westbound on Kate Street and stopped for the stop sign. When he started up, he saw something behind him and he turned his head around to look.

When he did, the car swerved left across the intersection and went into the yard, hitting the tree, he said. He was taken from the scene in a Granite City ambulance.

Man dies of shock or fall

Jerry Mikuleza, 40, of Rural Route Two, Box 1177, Granite City, was fatally injured while working on the electricity at an apartment building at 2201 rear
Cleveland Blvd., at 4:30 p.m.
Thursday.

Investigators say they believe an extension cord from the main line into the house was not grounded and electrified the aluminum siding of the house.

Mr. Mikuleza was on a ladder, leaning against the house, and was cutting a hole for conduit to go through when electrical sparks came from a vent on the side of the house nearby. Mr. Mikuleza suddenly stiffened for a few seconds and then fell about 17 feet, striking the ladder, then the ground.

Bob Norfleet, 1209 Twenty-second St., owner of the building, and Mr. Mikuleza's son tried to catch him as he fell, but could not. The younger Mikuleza said he received a minor electrical shock when he brushed the ladder after the accident.

Mr. Mikuleza suffered bleeding from the nose and mouth and numerous scratches to his upper chest, officials said.

City ambulance attendants and paramedics rushed to the scene and used oxygen and cardio-pulmonary resuscitation to attempt to revive him, but found no signs of life. He was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center
where he was pronounced dead.

Illinois Power Co. officials were called to the scene to aid the police. They checked the wiring and said that the main power to the building was blocked by Mr. Mikuleza prior to the accident, but an extension cord had been run directly from the power line to the house. A resident could have a fan while the electrical work was being done.

That extension cord was not grounded and the officials believe the aluminum siding on the house and Mr.
Mikuleza's ladder acted as the ground for the electricity, causing the electrical shock which stunned him.
An autopsy showed death
was caused by a ruptured liver as a result of the fall, authorities said Saturday.
Additional details may be found in today's obituary column.

Man, son stabbed

Ray Sexton, 2731 Warren Ave., and his son, Steve Sexton, 19, suffered stab wounds when they were attacked by a woman in their home at 3:10 a.m. Sunday.

The father said he had an argument with the woman Saturday and she left. He was talking with his son Sunday morning when the woman came back to the house and stabbed both of them, the police said.

She then ran outside and fell down and Ray Sexton followed and kicked her, he told police.

The two Sextons were taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center where the father was admitted for a stab wound to the right side of his chest. Steve Sexton suffered a stab wound to the left side of his chest, but decided not to have medical treatment and signed himself out of the medical center, authorities said.

The woman suffered extensive swelling around her left eye, but did not seek medical treatment, police noted.

The stabbing victims said they were going to prosecute the woman, they added.

Amvets, auxiliary plan holiday events

Amvets Post 51 and Auxiliary plan to celebrate the Independence Day holiday with an old fashioned family picnic at 2 p.m. Sunday, July 6.

The event will take place at the Post Home, 5100 Lakeview Drive.

Amvets Commander Harold Siebert said the July 4 date was selected, instead of the traditional July 4, due to remodeling of the post headquarters.

All Amvets and their families are invited to attend the picnic which will include outdoor games, a barbecue and covered dish dinner.

Arrangements for the picnic were reviewed at last week's meeting of the auxiliary unit, conducted by Glenda Brockman, president.

Serving as hostesses were Betty Wilkins and Barbara Siebert.

The group also made final plans to provide a social evening for patients at John Cochran Veteran's Hospital, St. Louis.

The latter activity will take place Monday, July 7, with post and auxiliary members directing games and providing prizes and refreshments.

Shirley Schiengschang, a member of the auxiliary's bowling team, was the winner of a special award given by Brunswick Tri-Mor Bowl in connection with a recent tournament to aid the Muscular Sclerosis Foundation, it was announced.

Screams stop would-be rapist

A woman who resides in the 2100 block of Cleveland Boulevard was able to keep from being raped by screaming loudly and kicking her attacker in the yard of her home last week.

The victim said she was at the rear of her apartment building when a man walked past, said, "Hi," and kept walking away.

He turned suddenly, however, grabbed her, threw her to the ground and tried to tear her blouse off, she reported.

She screamed and kicked at him and he ran north on Cleveland Boulevard, she related. The man was described as about 5 feet, 11 inches tall, having brown shoulder-length hair, weighing about 140 pounds and wearing a clean dark blue work shirt like those worn by service station attendants and truck drivers. He also wore black work boots, the victim said.

Dogs a problem for mail carriers

By Postmaster JACK D. WILKINS

"He doesn't bite!" claimed the dog owner to his letter carrier. These were probably the last words the letter carrier heard before the dog proved otherwise.

Last fiscal year, 1,620 letter carriers across the Central Region of the U.S. Postal Service were injured by dogs — most during the summer months. These were all preventable if a little precaution were exercised by the postal customer.

Certain precautionary safety measures by the public and postal employees can aid the delivery of mail and reduce dog bite injuries to letter carriers.

To emphasize this, Regional Postal Manager John F. Doran has declared "Dog Awareness Day" in the Central Region.

All letter carriers are being encouraged to follow safety tips in an effort to reduce the dog bite injury rate. The best thing you can do is to keep the letter carrier and your dog apart — far apart.

If your dog is kept outdoors at all times, secure him to a leash away from your mail receptacle and the line of the carrier's entry and exit on your property.

If your pet is a house dog, that's the best place for him during delivery time.

Letter carriers are scheduled deliveries. They usually arrive at your home about the same time each day.

During this delivery time, keep your dog indoors. These easy-to-follow rules will keep your mail coming and bring a smile to your letter carrier.

Delivery personnel are being reminded that if an unrestrained dog threatens their safety, they should not risk injury.

Persons who do not control their dogs will not get their mail delivered. All postal customers can help by reporting stray dogs to the proper authorities.

Granite Cityans may report stray dogs in their neighborhood to the humane officer by phoning 452-6233.

Hospice workers to attend N.Y. course

Two Madison County social workers have been chosen to attend a one-week course on "Social Work with Cancer Patients" at the Sloan-Kettering Memorial Hospital in New York.

Nina Millett, coordinator for the Hospice Madison County program in Granite City and Julie Ross, social worker at St. Joseph Hospital in Alton, were awarded scholarships from the Illinois Division of the American Cancer Society.

Miss Millett, a resident of Marine, has been with the Madison County Hospice Program in Granite City as coordinator since August of last year when it was founded.

She received her MSW from St. Louis University and is also a registered nurse. In addition to social work Miss Ross, a Godfrey resident, is involved with Hospice as a volunteer dealing in the home care of the terminally ill. She received her MSW from Washington University.

Only ten scholarships were awarded to Illinois social workers to attend the program sponsored by the Sloan-Kettering Memorial Hospital. This program has received national recognition as being innovative in its approach to care of the cancer patient and as being instrumental in establishing a professional need for people to work with individual cancer patients and their families.

Poison ivy, poison oak are prevalent

By DR. STUART FRANK

STU School of Medicine

We are once again warned to "avoid the nuisances of poison ivy and poison oak. Avoidance implies recognition of the offending plant."

Clues to recognition are that the plants have clusters of three leaves and that the leaves are green in the spring and summer, and red in the fall.

Armed with this wisdom, you can set forth into your backyard or even into the wilderness avoiding three-leaved plants.

This requires the concentrated attention of the botanist and suggests that your excursions into nature be limited to a well-manicured public park or your own garden.

Poison ivy and poison oak are the two most common examples of a group of plants which excrete an oily resin on their leaves. The resin produces an itching rash, and occasionally more severe symptoms in people who are exposed to the resin.

Poison ivy is more of a problem in the eastern United States; poison oak is more common in the west. The resin is always present on the leaves of the plant, even in the winter. It spreads only by contact — touch it and it's yours.

It is not transmitted by wind or air except attached to fine particles in a blowing smoke. The resin can persist for long periods of time on clothing, gloves, tools, and dead leaves.

Skin sensitivity varies enormously. Some people are insensitive and literally can sleep in a patch of poison oak or ivy without an itch, while others may be totally disabled with only the briefest contact.

Most people lose their sensitivity as they get older. Some people become less sensitive with repeated exposure, and some get more sensitive.

Light-skinned people are more susceptible to the irritants in the oily resin. Some areas of your body are more sensitive than others.

Your hands and feet are areas where the skin is thicker, and they are often unaffected. But the resin on your contaminated and unaffected hands can easily be transmitted to your face or other sensitive portions of your body.

Diagnosis of poison ivy or poison oak is not difficult. It is an itching, weeping, crusting rash and blisters, but there are a number of things which make the misery more tolerable.

The oil is absorbed into the skin fairly rapidly, so scrubbing newly exposed skin with soap and water probably won't help much but is worth a try.

Be careful when you wash the area, since you might spread the remaining oil to other parts of your body.

Itching and swelling can be helped with a cold compress or an ice pack. If the problem is extensive, you might be more comfortable in a tub with water as cool as you can tolerate; hot water will usually make itching worse.

Various cooling ointments or lotions (calamine) will accomplish the same thing. Many people find antihistamine drugs will decrease the itching slightly. If these home remedies fail, you will need a doctor's prescription for a cortisone preparation; an ointment or spray.

If you have the rash in or around sensitive spots like your eyes, or if you are developing secondary complications, you may need oral cortisone medications. You should be carefully supervised by a competent physician.

Finally, if you are continually exposed to the poison ivy or poison oak, or if you are just extraordinarily sensitive, you should consider desensitization by your doctor or an allergist. This can be done with either pills or shots.

Both involve a gradual increase in the body's exposure to the sensitizing agent, with the presumption that gradual exposure to increasing doses enables your body to develop a tolerance when and if you do get a natural exposure.

Their benefit is rarely complete and the side effects unpleasant, but they may be worth a try if you are desperate.

Bi-State changes living cost policy

The Bi-State Development Agency effective tomorrow is eliminating cost-of-living adjustments (COLA) for its 325 salaried employees in a management initiative to achieve a fixed budget.

Under current policy, salaried employees had received quarterly cost-of-living adjustments based on the Consumer Price Index, because of a similar provision in existing contracts between the agency and unions. Under the new system, all salaried employees will be considered for a single pay increase once each fiscal year, based on merit.

In meetings and a letter to all salaried employees, Charles G. Houghton, executive director, emphasized, "This is a change in policy. We are taking a two-year-old practice and changing it, as part of the direction this management team is taking to increase productivity."

"We operate on a fixed income and that dictates a fixed, balanced budget. Operating with a floating COLA is not operating within a fixed budget and, therefore, is an unacceptable management practice."

"We cannot continue to allow inflation to dictate our salary expenditures. The cost-of-living increases have been tied to the rate of inflation, and the sharp increases in the price of fuel and parts — coupled with the continued rise in the cost-of-living — have combined to create a burden the agency can no longer bear."

"Good management practice requires that we budget all salary expenditures in advance and then stay within that budget."

"The new policy," Houghton continued, "will benefit employees who are doing a good job for the agency and the public. It will provide increased performance incentives and rewards for good work."

Supervisors will have more flexibility in rewarding employees who are deserving of a merit increase in pay. And employees will be rewarded for their productivity rather than merely another year on the job. The policy will serve both the employees and the public well.

"The bottom line is that Bi-State can't afford to continue the quarterly pay adjustments of the past two years. But employees will continue to receive good, livable wages, with inflation being provided for work performed well."

Salaries personnel at Bi-State include supervisors, managers, accountants and clerical staff. Bi-State employs 325 salaried personnel and 2,046 union personnel.

Ignoring speed laws dangerous, state says

"Disobedience to traffic laws and bad driver attitudes continue to be factors in the rising number of traffic accidents," according to a spokesman at the Maryville headquarters of the Illinois State Police.

"State officers made 130,510 speeding arrests during the first five months of 1980."

"Apparently these drivers don't realize that speed is one of the predominant factors which determine the stopping distance of a vehicle — and also the impact forces which cause injury and death."

"A reduction in speed, means a reduction in stopping distance and a reduction in impact force."

"Speeds of 20, 30 and 60 mean 20, 40 and 60 feet breaking distance and 20, 40 and 60 feet stopping distance."

"But at speeds of 22, 44 and 66, breaking distance is 22, 88 and 198 feet and total stopping distance of 44, 132 and 264 feet."

"These figures are based on ideal weather and mechanical conditions."

"Stopping always takes longer when you go faster, when the road is wet or icy or is loose gravel, when your brakes are in poor condition, when you've been drinking or your mind wanders, and when you speed."

"Stopping is quick when your car hits a tree, bridge abutment, utility pole, or another vehicle."

"Drive 55. Death is forever," the spokesman concluded.

July bargains likely

By CATHERINE MAUCK
Madison County
Home Economics Adviser
Post-Fourth of July sales and other special promotions mean a number of bargains will be available for alert shoppers.

Air conditioners, refrigerators and freezers will be good buys during the next few weeks, as will recreation equipment such as outdoor games, stereo equipment and outdoor furniture.

Christmas-In-July promotions are a reminder of colder weather ahead — and bargain prices on rugs, carpets, fuel oil, firewood, pressed logs and storm windows can help shoppers get a head start on winter preparations. Auto supplies also are featured at thirty prices.

Seasonal items, such as garden equipment, bathing suits and other summer wear, are offered at lower prices now than earlier this year. In addition, good buys can be found on infants' wear, men's shirts, handbags and assorted toiletries. Fresh fruit is plentiful now, and cherries, lemons, limes, mangoes and strawberries are especially value-priced.

Good buys can be found on apricots, cantaloupes, pineapples and watermelons but prices vary from market to market, so compare before buying.

Vegetables values include beans, beets, carrots, lettuce, green onions and summer squash. Locally grown asparagus, sweet corn, green peppers, radishes and tomatoes also may be a good buy, but compare and check prices before making your selection.

In addition, pork is readily available and often bargain priced, especially bacon and sausage. While supplies are plentiful, you may want to stock up. You can store pork roasts for up to eight months at 0 degrees Fahrenheit in your freezer.

American Bank hosts employees

The ninth annual "Family Night" dinner of the American Heritage Bank of Granite City was held last week at the Sunset Hills Country Club.

In attendance were employees, offices, and directors of the bank and their families.

Following the invocation and dinner, hosted by Robert H. Karandjeff, executive vice-president and cashier, service awards were presented by Henry D. Karandjeff, chairman and president of the bank, to Laura Gibson for 10 years of service, Joyce Davis for one year of service and Francine Garcia for one year of service.

Entertainment was provided by Gene Devoe, magical entertainer. This was followed by gifts given to the children in attendance. In his message to the bank's families, Henry D. Karandjeff stated, "The success of any business, bank or otherwise, is dependent on the people who conduct that business' activities. The American Heritage Bank has been most fortunate and blessed to have personnel whose character, warmth and productivity have been what every employer hopes to have."

Flexibility in Girl Scouting programs for pre-teenagers

The scope of pre-teen girl's interests and activities has changed dramatically in the past 20 years, the River Bluffs Girl Scout Council believes. Media, advances in science and technology, and expanded career options for women are some of the many factors shaping the present and future of these girls, a spokesman said.

With nearly one million Junior Girl Scouts (ages 9-11) among its members, Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. has updated the content and form of its traditional Junior Girl Scout proficiency badge program to "match the realities of the pre-teen's life."

Seventy-six new, action-oriented badges that girls can earn on such subjects as aerobics, computer science, business, communication arts and energy are grouped into five interest areas or "worlds."

The five worlds — well-being, people, today and tomorrow, the arts, and the out-of-doors — were introduced to girls in 1977 with the release of Worlds to Explore: The Handbook for Brownie and Junior Girl Scouts. They represent the first major program change for younger Girl Scouts since 1963.

Earning badges is as old as Girl Scouting originally, the badge or badges worn by a girl showed that she had done the activity often and well enough to teach someone else.

The new proficiency badges are no exception. However, there is more to today's Girl Scout badges than skill development, the spokesman explained.

In selecting a badge topic, girls develop their decision-making abilities. The activities offers hands-on experience in science and the arts, and help girls to see themselves as part of a multicultural society which has new roles for women and girls to play.

Opportunities for career exploration, service and leadership make the Girl Scout program "come alive" for girls of this age, it is felt.

Many of the present badge subjects have been preserved from previous years, but they have changed.

In 1913, to earn a swimming badge, a girl had to swim 50 yards in "clothes, skirt and boots." Today's swimming badge still stresses water safety, but girls can complete its requirements in more than ten different ways, including the practice of safe snorkeling and the correct use of a PFD (personal flotation device).

The new badge program's built-in flexibility means any Junior Girl Scout, regardless of her age, can work on any badge in any of the five worlds she chooses.

Required activities can be made to fit almost any girl's interests, skill level or available resources.

For example, the horse lover badge is for girls who have never ridden a horse, but who would like to learn more about horse lore and care. The horseback rider badge is for girls who wish to learn more about riding.

Because so many badge activities ask girls to show, to find out about, to share their skill — without being specific as to how they should do these things — the possibilities for girls to grow and discover are now almost endless.

In partnership with their adult leaders, girls find creative ways to earn badges which might include activities outside their Girl Scout troops, such as in school, a summer or day camp, with their families, or at special events. There is no one "right way" to earn a badge, but many.

The new badges and other insights for Junior Girl Scouts are part of a totally redesigned recognition system for all Girl Scouts aged six through 17.

Deputy and intruder injured in shootout

A Madison County sheriff's deputy who was involved in a shootout in his home in Hamel with an armed intruder Friday morning was released from the Alton Memorial Hospital Saturday.

The alleged intruder, Bethalto insurance agent Ronald Edwards, 38, is recuperating from several gunshot wounds and has been charged with attempted murder and home invasion. Doubt said he knew Edwards, but did not recognize him, since he wore a motorcycle helmet and dark face shield.

Doubt, 33, said a man knocked on his door and woke him Friday morning. When the deputy answered the door, the man had a shotgun aimed at him, he said. The gun was covered with a bedsheet, Doubt recalls.

The man said he needed a deputy and a squad car to successfully rob one business and ordered Doubt to get dressed, it was related. Sheriff's department officials have declined to name the establishment, but said it is a rural business which has good security.

While Doubt was getting dressed, he was able to reach a service revolver on a closet shelf and the two men fired several shots at each other across the bedroom, investigators were told.

Doubt was able to get the gun away from the intruder before deputies arrived. The deputy suffered shotgun pellets in his upper left arm and Edwards suffered gunshot wounds to his abdomen, chest, leg and hand, authorities said.

Threatened by man with gun

William Finazzo, 2720 Saratoga St., told police at 3:30 p.m. Friday that a man driving a small yellow two-door auto had just pointed a pistol at him at Nameoki Road and St. Clair Avenue.

Finazzo was a passenger in the auto of Cathy Gresham, 1413 Rhodes St., which was turning left from the southbound lanes of Nameoki Road onto St. Clair Avenue, just as the small yellow car began to turn left from St. Clair Avenue onto Nameoki Road, he told police.

When the autos nearly collided, the driver of the yellow car made an obscene gesture, so Finazzo asked Cathy Gresham to stop the car on the Mobil service station lot.

The yellow auto also drove onto the service station lot and when he and Finazzo got out of the vehicles, the man, who was about 35 years old, displayed a blue steel pistol and waved it around before returning to his car and leaving east on St. Clair Avenue and south on Myrtle Avenue.

Blasting caps injure youth

Derrick Brown, 11, Apt. 3, 310 Selb St., Venice, was admitted to St. Elizabeth Medical Center Thursday with multiple bruises over his entire body and an injury to his left eye.

The boy's mother called Venice police at 11:20 p.m. for assistance.

Police said they found a torch, yellow wire and dynamite detonator caps.

Cyclist is killed in head-on crash with stolen auto

Nicholas E. Elchert, 30, 4041 Rode Ave., was fatally injured when his motorcycle and a stolen car collided head-on on Route 203 north of Interstate 55-70 at 3:40 a.m. Saturday.

Illinois State Police troopers were told that Mr. Elchert was driving north in the southbound lanes when it collided with a southbound vehicle.

The driver of the southbound vehicle abandoned it at the scene of the accident and fled on foot. He has not been identified.

The owner of the car reported later Saturday morning that the vehicle had been stolen from the parking lot of Bob's Tavern, 1901

Third St. Madison. When Madison County sheriff's deputies used the state computer to enter the car as stolen, they found that the vehicle had been involved in the accident and was being held by state police.

The name of the owner of the car, a Cahkin man, has not been released, pending additional investigation, but evidence indicates the vehicle actually was stolen and the owner was not involved in the fatal accident, troopers said.

Mr. Elchert's body was taken to a Belleville funeral home and then was taken to Tiffin, Ohio, for services. Details appear in today's obituary column.

An offer of aid

To the Mother of Mary Elizabeth June:

We understand that when you made your decision to give up your baby, you had reasons for making that choice. We also realize that the decision was a very difficult one for you and that many hours of thought went into it.

We wonder if you were aware during the months before the baby was born that there are places and people where you could turn for help. At this time, we want you to know that these people are still available, are concerned about you, and are willing to help.

Each of us have times in our lives when we need other people to help us through a troublesome period. Sometimes, all we need is someone to listen. Whatever your needs are, we know that this period of your life is a most difficult one and that your problems did not end when you gave up your baby. We want you to know that among the agencies available to help you are the Social Work Department of St. Elizabeth Medical Center (phone 798-3018) and the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services (phone 345-6810). We know that your contacts with these agencies will be handled in a confidential manner as our concern is for you to have peace of mind and a reasonable degree of happiness in your life.

Watch your step; streets to be gooey

By GARY SCHNEIDER of the Press-Record

July is normally a hot, sticky month in Granite City, but this year things may be a bit stickier than usual, and we are not talking about the weather.

Crews from Macclair Asphalt plan to start tomorrow putting the sticky black prime coat on streets in the Cloverleaf Addition and from there the "black plague" (as some residents have described it in past years) will be spread throughout the city on many streets.

"Take heart, asphalt will follow," according to City Engineer Monroe Brewer. After the prime coat is put down, crews will return to put in new asphalt on the primed streets.

"It should be a few days, at the most, between the time any street is prime coated and the time the asphalt is put down, but during those few days is when our telephones ring off the wall with complaints," Brewer explained.

"We're going to catch each of these," Sixth Ward Alderman Mac Warfield predicted at the last city council meeting.

Brewer explained that the base coat is normally only sticky for the first eight to 10 hours, but it can be picked up, during that time, on shoes and car tires and frequently is tracked onto curbs and on driveways.

He suggested that adults take heed when they see the paper "No parking" signs posted on their streets, since that is a warning that the base coat will be applied to those streets within 24 hours.

Once the base coat is down, parents may "reduce their misery" somewhat by having children play in the back yards, rather than the streets, and parking on the side streets to avoid driving in the base coat.

The schedule for the work follows: July 1 to 9—Cloverleaf Addition (north of Pontoon and east of Maryville Road).

July 10 to 16—Emert, Villa, St. Clair, Willow and Wilson Avenue.

July 17 to 23—Washington, Hodges, August, Kate, 25th, 26th and 27th Streets and Wilson Park Lane.

July 23 to Aug. 1—West 20th, Maple and Bryan Avenue.

The work is not expected to follow the schedule exactly. Weather and the number of cars which have to be removed before doing each street will affect progress, Brewer noted.

The entire resurfacing project should be completed by July 4, he added.

A total of 28 sections of streets throughout Granite City are to be resurfaced at a cost of $369,534.

Brewer said the city council stressed that residents should move their autos immediately if paper "No parking" signs are posted on their streets.

"It is a real problem if there are four or five cars on a block and we have to go from house to house to try to find the owners and ask them to move the cars," City Engineer Monroe Brewer stated.

He also disagreed with the need for a base coat under the asphalt, but explained it is required. "I personally do not feel the surface coat is necessary, but the state does, and since we are using state money for tax money, we have to do it the way the state says," Brewer told the council at its last meeting.

8 injured on Pontoon Road

Eight persons were injured when the autos of Doris Lundry, 52, of the mobile home park at 3801 Lake Drive, were Philip Martin Sr., 30, who suffered pain to his lower back and abrasions to his right knee and right elbow, Mrs. Brenda Martin, 27, who was thrown from the back seat to the front and suffered extensive pain to her chest, left arm, right knee and leg, and five of their children.

Children injured were Richard, 8, who suffered a cut to his mouth, April, 3, who hit her chest and had swelling to her forehead, Phillip Jr., 5, who bumped a knee, and Barbara, 6, and Craig, 18 months, who suffered minor injuries which did not require treatment, but who were examined at the emergency room.

Passenger hurt Mrs. Earline Pulley, 54, of 201 McCambridge Ave., Madison, was treated Thursday for bruises to her right side and head, then released.

She was a passenger in an auto driven by her husband, Elmer L. Pulley, 54, that collided with a vehicle driven by Benny L. Eilerman, 19, of Batch Town, Ill., Thursday.

Pulley was heading east on Broadway and Eilerman was northbound on Fourth Street in Venice when they collided.

Jekyll & Hyde Tri-City splits doubleheader

Players and fans alike rode the umpires all night during a makeshift doubleheader Sunday between Collinsville and Tri-City Post 113. But each team did itself in as Collinsville took the first game 5-4 and dropped to Tri-City in the eighth inning of the nightcap 8-7.

Game number one was a continuation of Friday night's game set at Collinsville's Fletcher Field. Righthander Jeff McDaniel had everything in check for Collinsville, trailing 3-1. Tri-City had a man on third with two out and an 0-2 count on the Tri-City batter.

Suddenly, the lights went out. Actually, only one spot of lights went out, but it was enough to make it impossible to finish the game. And so, the teams picked up where they left off as part of a makeup evening Sunday.

Collinsville's Barry Wilson was called upon to finish McDaniel's job. He faced just one batter however, giving up a single. Todd Miller was brought in, and he did finish the job.

Sports

GRANITE CITY (Ill.) PRESS-RECORD, Monday, June 30, 1980 — 7

Two insurance runs in the bottom of the sixth inning for Collinsville proved to be the difference. Tri-City rallied in the top of the seventh for two runs, and could have easily tied the game.

Granite City leftfielder John Linhart was gunned down on a strong throw home by centerfielder Vinced Plante for the first out of the inning. Miller then put the game away by striking out the last two batters.

"We should have won that first game," said Eldon Warfield, Tri-City coach, said, "I've got a Jekyll-and-Hyde team. One time they'll go out there and get the job done, and the second time, you don't exactly know what happened."

A little of both came out in the second game. Tri-City played just well enough behind winning pitcher Rick Daily to knock off Collinsville, rated number one in this week's Missouri-Illinois American Legion Poll.

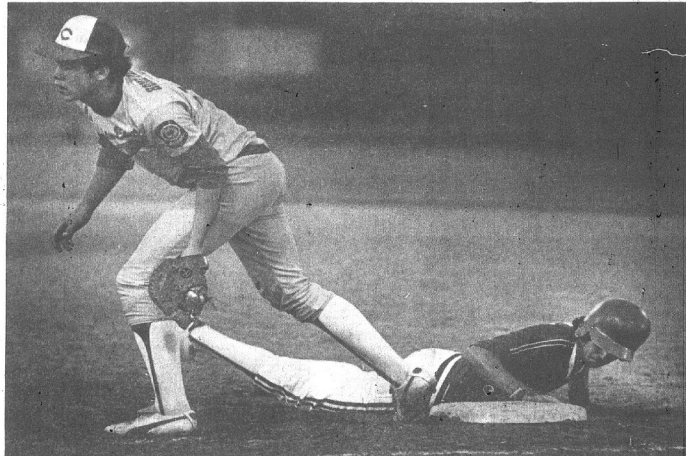

"He's like a Bob Gibson," Warfield said of Daily. "When he gets in a jam, he's the one you want in there. He may get himself into the trouble, but he'll get back out. He may be our guestiest pitcher."

The "Mr. Hyde" appeared as errors hurt both teams throughout the second game. Collinsville took a 1-0 lead in the top of the second inning after Mike Heflin reached on a fielding error by first baseman George Jarvis.

Heflin scored after a walk and two fielder's choices. Tri-City came right as Dr. Jekyll and ripped starting pitcher Gregg Barr in the bottom of the second frame. Daily walked, Linhart tripled, Jarvis blooped a double, and John Vrenick tripled before Dave Lambert was called in to put out Tri-City's fire.

Granite City tagged Lambert for one more run before the inning was out and found itself on top 3-1. Collinsville picked up three runs in the third inning following two Tri-City errors. Daily scored one run in Tri-City's third for a 4-4 lead.

McDonald's, Maryville don't solve anything

By KEVIN ALLEN of the Press-Record

MARYVILLE — When McDonald's took the field against Maryville here Sunday, first place in the Inter-City baseball league was at stake. Maybe.

Not everyone involved was completely sure just how things stood in the standings. Ray Harris, for example, He coach of McDonald's, said at a league meeting he was informed his team stood atop the league. "I don't see how that's possible, though," Harris said. "Maryville is eight and two, and we're seven and three."

That's why Sunday's double header was important. A sweep by either team would have assured it sole possession of first place. Anything else and it's back to your guess or mine.

They split. Maryville won the opener 5-4. McDonald's came back in the nightcap, 5-2. So, what's your guess? "I'm just glad we won one game," Harris said. "It would have been nice to have won them both, but at least we didn't lose any ground."

Depending on who's point of view you take, Maryville was either the recipient of McDonald's generosity in the first game, or a team who knows a good situation when it sees one.

"We gave them the first game," Harris said. "We took advantage of some mistakes they made. Maryville coach Harold Oberkell said.

Wichever's the case, Maryville scored two runs as the direct result of McDonald's errors, and produced a couple of more consequently. In the first, Maryville's Jamie Semanisin singled, moved to second on a sacrifice and ended up scoring on an error by McDonald's first baseman.

The run tied the game after McDonald's Pat Hogan had singled, stole second and ended up scoring on Jeff Parker's sacrifice fly to open the game.

In the third, a pair of runs by each team tied the score at 3-3. Brad Gregor and Terry Hadjuk scored for Maryville and McDonald's Danny Schaus and Jeff Tretter crossed the plate.

The eventual difference in the game was the Maryville fifth. Gregor reached first on a walk and eventually scored on an error by McDonald's third baseman. "That," Harris said, "was what did us in. We should have been out of the inning with a double play, but they end up scoring 'two.'"

Hadjuk followed the error with a triple and scored on Mark Bonebrake's sacrifice fly. Parker homered for McDonald's in the seventh, breaking the record held by McDonald's. Not only did McDonald's could produce.

The second game was a different story, especially for McDonald's. Not only did the Granite City team play flawlessly in the field, its batters came through for all the runs it needed in the fifth. After Maryville starting pitcher Steve Mishanic no-hit McDonald's through the first four innings, Harris called on Bob Ford to spark his team.

Ford broke up the no-hitter with a single to right and later ended the shutout when he scored on John Shable's right-field single. Mark DeGonia sandwiched another hit between Ford's and Shable's and all three eventually scored, giving McDonald's a 3-1 lead.

"Ford came on and got us going," Harris said. "He's just an outstanding ballplayer on both ends."

Jamie Semanisin had scored Maryville's only run in the first when he doubled, went to third on a sacrifice and scored on Gregor's single. Then in the sixth, Wayne Poston scored on Bonebrake's single, pulling Maryville within a run. McDonald's, though, insured its victory with two sixth-inning runs. Ford singled, driving in Parker and moving John Young to third, where he scored on DeGonia's sacrifice fly.

"We practiced with them (Maryville) Wednesday," Harris said. "We kind of gave up the first game, but (Steve) Doty gave us seven good innings on the mound in the second game, and we hit pretty good, so I guess the standings will stay the same."

Yeah, right. But who's in first?

Corral serves notice

By TOM SCHOCKER for the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Let it be known that the Corral Liquor Cowboys possess lumber power. To be more specific, their strength with the bat will be remembered. Their encounter at Wilson Park Sunday will serve as testimony.

The Cowboys exploded to blast nine home runs and shank 28 hits against East Alton in an Inter-City League doubleheader battle. Maybe it was the Indians pitching, but nevertheless Corral swept the twin-bill 11-4 and 17-1.

Not wasting any time, the Cowboys put the long ball into orbit early. Lead off hitter Eldon Warfield got the show on the road, drilling a solo shot in the trees. Mike "Boobie" Clark took notice and also slammed a home run. But it wasn't over yet. Big, strong Brian Sikes rounded out the first inning escapade sending a ball deep to left field for an unprecedented third homer as Corral grabbed a 3-1 lead. A lead that would not be relinquished.

"We are finally hitting the ball now," said Cowboy head coach Ken Crawford. And hitting and hitting. In fact, Corral banged the ball around enough times that they scored in every inning of both games except two.

Home run number four from the Cowboys in the opener came in inning two. Having increased the lead to 5-1, Clark once more stepped to the plate and cracked his second round tripper of the game. A two-run shot which capped off a four tally frame, breaking the contest wide open.

But the assault didn't stop there. Using three walks in the third, Corral nudged its tally production into the double figures. Scoring three more times, the Cowboys put the game out of reach 10-2.

East Alton, having troubles too numerous to mention, couldn't put together much of a threat. Six strikeouts by Corral hurler Randy Lyerla didn't help. But the Indians did manage to stage a mild attack in its half of the third.

Two base knocks, coupled with three walks ensured them of a pair of runs which was the last offensive output East Alton could muster. "Randy (Lyerla) pitched a good game," said Crawford. "I think that's his first win and his best game yet."

Lyerla's performance was needed as Corral's bid to get back into the league race took a big step forward. However, both feet were planted solidly in the nightcap as 18 hits were turned into 17 runs and the Cowboys had a heyday at the plate.

Jeff Stamper let the Indians know what they were in store for. Leading off the first frame he blasted yet another homer. But why change an old habit? Mike Robertson followed suit, ripping Corral's seventh home run of the day. "We are coming on strong now," said Crawford. "I'm very optimistic about the GRANITE CITY — The annual soccer camp sponsored by Granite City South soccer coach Gene Baker and Rockhurst College soccer coach Tony Tocco, held last week at GCHS South, was a success. Just ask any of the 75 area kids who took part.

Despite the intense heat, it was business as usual for the young kickers. As they learned everything from the basic skills on the youngest level to more complicated drills for the older high school age competitors.

PHOTOS — Clockwise from upper right: Gene Baker watches action; after losing a competitive drill, a camper has his "best side" shot at against the kick board by fellow campers; a hot camper gets relief from a slice of watermelon; a participant rounds the soccer ball during a conditioning drill; Granite City South player David Fernandez instructs some of the younger campers.

Fairview nips GC Legion by a hair

Special to the Press-Record
FAIRVIEW HEIGHTS — The Tri-City American Legion baseball team dropped heartbreaker to Fairview Heights here Friday night 10-9 in District 22 action.

Fairview Heights erupted for eight runs in the bottom of the fifth inning, but had a score a run in the bottom of the seventh to insure the victory.

Bob Ford's two-run homerun and three RBIs each from third baseman Bob Batey and second baseman Kevin Sykes had helped Tri-City back into a tie with Fairview Heights, but that was before the faithful bottom of the seventh rolled around.

In that frame, Fairview Heights loaded the bases on an error, a walk and a single by Dave Wolfe. Troy Fink then drove home the winning run with a single to left-centerfield.

Steve Goldschmidt had three hits for Fairview Heights, including a double. Fairview had 12 hits in all as it upped its record to 7-8 in District 22 play.

For Tri-City, Sykes was two-for-four. Batey was one-for-two with a double, Ford was one-for-four, Mike DeGonia was two-for-four, George Jarvis two-for-three, Rick Daily one-for-four and Mark Clark one-for-four. Daily was the losing pitcher, while Siegel was the winner for Fairview Heights.

In other District 22 action Friday, O'Fallon beat East St. Louis 4-2, Bethalto defeated Highland 8-5, Alton banged East Alton 12-4, Marietta edged Waterloo 5-2 and Edwardsville gained a pair of forfeit wins from Glen Carbon.

In non-league action, Trenton whipped Cahokia 12-0 and Nashville defeated Carlyle 4-1.

Old jail should not further burden county taxpayers

Madison County Board Member Herbert "Junior" Milton is contending that Quincy area residents do not want any more of their tax dollars spent on the old Madison County Jail at Edwardsville. We assume he has spoken to many taxpayers here in reaching that conclusion and we tend to agree.

The old jail, more than a century old, is in severe need of repairs—many of them major structural repairs which would be costly. The county in such poor condition that prisoners had to be transferred hastily to the new county jail last month when demolishing building started the ceiling plaster falling in the old jail and led to concern it might collapse.

Taxpayers have been heavily burdened in building the new jail and it will be expensive to operate, with electric everything, including heating, cooling, lighting, monitoring, closed circuit television and even individual electric doors on each cell. Guess who is going to be footing the bill.

"Granite City taxpayers do not want to pay for another monument in Edwardsville," Milton states. If Edwardsville residents want the old jail for a monument, perhaps current efforts by the city council to purchase the building will provide the answer.

Better yet, perhaps the county can encourage some citizens' group to buy it. It is in that spirit that St. Louis is attempting to save the Admiral's mansion without further burdening the taxpayers.

Smith losses show seriousness of recession, strike

Heavy financial losses anticipated for the 1980 second quarter by A. O. Smith Corporation underscore the seriousness of the current economic recession (including housing and auto sales declines, the credit crunch and high interest rates) and also the seriousness of the strike that began April 8 at Smith's auto frame plant in Granite City.

The Milwaukee-based company last week predicted a second quarter operating loss of between $4.9 million and $5.6 million, compared to year-earlier operating earnings of $12.574 million or $2.55 a share before an extraordinary charge of $1.22 a share. Smith expects the current quarter's sales to total $162 million, down from $200.946 million in April-June 1979.

For the first six months of 1980, an operating loss of $2,550,000 to $3.3 million is likely for the corporation, compared to year-earlier operating earnings of $25,833,000 or $4.23 a share before the extraordinary charge of $1.22 a share. From $468,113,000 in January-June 1979, sales for the first half of 1980 are expected to slump to $400 million.

A downturn of such magnitude has major implications, and Board Chairman L. B. Smith said the long strike here is "contributing further to the decline in Automotive Division profits."

The Granite City plant is destined to lose much of its volume within a couple of years when auto manufacturers de-emphasize car models that use local frames. But the next year or two are important in themselves, and also could affect the kind and amount of replacement work that is attracted here for 1982, 1983 and beyond.

The earliest possible reasonable settlement of the local dispute would aid all parties, the "red ink" estimates make clear.

Ministers supporting amendment

To the Editor: Passage of the Equal Rights Amendment is crucial for our time. It is abhorrent to all persons of conscience that inequality is supported by human law. All individuals must be given back God's gift of the freedom to realize his or her full potential. Justice for women and men is the meaning of "justice for all."

When each is equally responsible and accountable to the other, family life will be supported by more trusting, faithful, loving relationships.

Joseph Bargiel beaten severely

Joseph Bargiel, 20, of 1612 Kennedy Drive, Madison, was treated at St. Elizabeth Medical Center at 4:30 a.m. Sunday after being beaten in the 800 block of Jackson Street, Madison.

Bargiel is suffering from numerous abrasions and contusions to his face, neck and back. He also reportedly had seven stitches.

According to the victim, he and a friend, Gary Novich, had been at a tavern at 800 Jackson. When they left, at about 3:30 a.m., approximately 15 men came toward them and demanded money.

Novich allegedly fled and was unharmed. Bargiel said he is seeing an attorney today in regard to the incident, but did not elaborate.

Busy spring, summer for Troop Seven

Troop Seven activities of St. Joseph's scouts have included two camping adventures, Granite City Army Installation and Pere Marquette, two outings, activities (Zoo and Arch), and a community service project at McDonald's.

Attendance at a baseball game at Busch Stadium and a Gateway West historical trail hike also were late spring highlights.

Boy Scouts who hiked nearly 15 miles included Assistant Senior Patrol Leader Phil Kimbrel, who earned his hiking skill award and progressed to second-class rank.

The hike included visits to such well-known landmarks as the Arch, Old Courthouse, Soldiers' Memorial, Old Cathedral and Anheuser-Busch brewery.

Scouts who visited were Christ Church Cathedral (first Episcopal church west of the Mississippi), and site of the marriage of Buffalo Bill and Kate Smith at St. Louis Cathedral (the second Catholic Church built in St. Louis) and the Pet building (site of St. Louis Hospital, the first hospital west of the Mississippi).

This was the second time for the troop to hike the trail, sponsored by the Camping Service Unit of the St. Louis Area Council. Scouts hike primarily for the troop's new patrol, Panther.

Current troop activities include a summer patrol outing activity, summer camp at Camp Sunnen, a Granite City night hike, an outing and a bike hike to scout a safe route for a troop bike hike in July.

Mr. Zivic retired in 1967 from A. O. Smith, where he was employed as a laborer.

He is survived by a daughter, Marjorie Dunlap of Dorsey, a granddaughter, a sister and two brothers.

Funeral services were held at 9:30 a.m. today at a World River mortuary. Burial was in Valhalla Memorial Park in Godfrey.

Lazerson to head SIUE

Earl Lazerson, 49, was named president of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Friday, ending a search for a permanent chief executive for the university that began in mid-December.

Lazerson, whose appointment to the $59,000-a-year post will be placed before the SIUE Board of Trustees July 10, has been serving as acting president of the university since September, when former president Kenneth A. Shaw was appointed university chancellor.

The president-designate joined SIUE in 1969 as an associate professor of mathematics and rose to be chairman of the Mathematics Department in 1972. He was promoted to full professor and dean of the School of Science and Technology the next year.

Lazerson, acting vice president and provost under Acting President Andrew J. Kochman in 1976, and was named to the job permanently 16 months later when Shaw was selected permanent campus president.

"It is especially gratifying to know that having been chief academic officer (vice president and provost) for seven years, there is still a reservoir of good will, credibility and faith in the future," Lazerson said of his recommendation for the position by the presidential search committee.

He pledged to "render decisions without fear or favor."

William Norwood of Chicago, president of the board of trustees, said

Four bids for a new underground water distribution system for Kirkpatrick Homes were opened Thursday by officials of the Granite City Housing Authority and will be considered by the authority's board tomorrow evening.

The bids for a new system of pipes to distribute water throughout the housing complex. The authority has been plagued by breaks in the old system, especially in winter, when repairs are difficult.

The old pipes will not be removed when the new pipes are put in, Dave Morgan, chairman of the housing authority, said.

Low bidder for the work is Amco Plumbing of Granite City at $317,945. Next is C.D. Peters Construction Co. of Granite City at $384,445.

Korte and Lujthjan, bid $488,000 and Destelhorst Co. of Bunker Hill bid $505,408 for the work.

If one of the bids is accepted by the housing board tomorrow night, the bid must be sent to the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) in Chicago for final approval before work can begin.

Burglar at Polish Hall

Three steel money boxes containing about $200 in cash were stolen during a break in at Polish Hall, 826 Greenwood St., Madison, which was discovered at 7 a.m. Saturday.

NEPHEW CHARGED
Michael W. Simpson, 20, of 2435 Lincoln Ave., was charged this week with criminal damage to property and two counts of theft on complaints signed by his uncle, Robert Shane, of the same address. It is alleged he damaged the basement door to gain entry to the home, then stole costume jewelry and a key to a motorcycle, which he allegedly took for two days.

EARL LAZERSON

Lazerson's selection was greeted with "universal acceptance" by the board. Extended applause greeted Lazerson when introduced Friday by Shaw to more than 50 of his peers and representatives of the university's constituency groups at a campus gathering.

Shaw said Lazerson's "consistency, intelligence, strong commitment to SIUE and his leadership skills will be greatly needed during the difficult era ahead—a period which will require that all institutions of higher education... make very hard decisions."

A Fulbright scholar, Lazerson lives in Edwardsville with his wife. They are the parents of grown twin sons.

More than 125 people applied or were nominated for the SIUE presidency.

Charlie Daniels band at River Fest July 5

The Charlie Daniels Band will bring their hard-driving, country-flavored Southern rock music to the Mississippi River Festival, a three-day event of Southern Illinois University in Edwardsville on Saturday, July 5 at 6:30 p.m. Country singer John D. Dillinger and his band will be the Charlie Daniels Band's special guests.

One of the most popular groups to visit the festival, the Charlie Daniels Band (CDB) sing hard-driving, tough and free-wheeling songs about "stayin' up late, drinkin' too much whiskey, the South's gonna rise again, and country boys and rednecks." A funny thing happens when the CDB appears—cowboy hats and Confederate flags suddenly appear in Edwardsville, a curious sight for a Southern Illinois town located many miles north of the Mason-Dixon line.

The CDB was formed in 1971. They recorded Way Down Yonder and Fire On The Mountain, with the latter achieving gold status twice, as it was released on two different record labels.

Million Mile Reflections has become the CDB's first platinum album and is on its way to double platinum status. The single "The Devil Went Down To Georgia" off the Reflections album has also sold in excess of a million copies and has not only hit the top of the charts on U.S., but in such far-flung places as Italy and Israel as well.

Tickets for the Charlie Daniels Band—John Dillinger performance are $9.50 for reserved and $7.00 for lawn seating. For more information, Quad-Cities may call (618) 692-0100.

Double trash pickup Thursday

Trash collections, normally picked up Friday in Granite City, will be advanced to Thursday this week due to the Fourth of July holiday.

An officer of Milam-East, a division of SCA, said a double pickup on both Thursday and Friday collection routes is scheduled Thursday.

Also, Dr. Alexandru Vida, veterinarian and director of the Sahatani Feed Mill, Buzau County, and Mrs. Mihaela Chelaru, interpreter, U. S. Desk, Ministry of Agriculture, Bucharest.

Traveling with them is Dr. J. D. Shroder, escort, director of the American Soybean Association, Vienna.

Located in Southeastern Europe, Romania has a population of 22 million people. It is an increasingly industrialized country but more than 60 percent of the land is capable of cultivation. There also are extensive forests.

With a technologically advanced agriculture, high yields and self-sufficiency in major feed grain crops, Romania nevertheless is still not meeting domestic demand for meat and its poultry and livestock production.

Purpose of the tour, arranged by the ASA in cooperation with the Foreign Agricultural Service, is to provide the team members with experience enabling them to increase their awareness of improved livestock and poultry production systems.

Emphasis is being placed on quality ration formulations, modern feeding operations, equipment systems, and techniques used to improve agricultural extension activities.

"Viewing U. S. operations and equipment provide a tangible experience which will have application to Romanian agricultural operations," a spokesman has commented.

Registration by phone is popular at college

More than a thousand people a semester now register for Belleville Area College classes by telephone. The college is experiencing increasing use of the telephone registration system.

The simplicity of the system makes registration fast and easy, according to Dr. Weldon Tallant, vice-president for student personnel services.

A student calls the special registration number (225-7900) and gives the telephone registrar his or her Social Security number, plus biographical information. If the registration is the first one, the Social Security number is sufficient to locate all biographical information on the computer if the student has been registered in a previous semester.

The student tells of the classes desired. In a matter of seconds, the phone registration clerk can confirm the student's class choices.

The student is then billed for the classes and may send payment by mail. If the services of a counselor are not needed, the student need not appear on campus until the time for the first class.

Dr. Tallant encourages all students, particularly those registering for the first time—even if for only one class—to discuss their educational plans with a counselor.

"It is our intent to make the registration process as easy as possible," he said. "We recognize that the average community college student is older and has a family and a job."

"Precious hours of travel time and waiting time can be saved by the use of the telephone registration system."

"Nevertheless, we feel it is vitally important for students to obtain direction for their academic careers, so we encourage every student to talk to a counselor before enrolling."

Phone registration for BAC classes will be from Aug. 4 through Aug. 15 from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Thursday, and until 3:30 p.m. on Fridays.

It is anticipated that the fall class schedule will arrive in all homes in the district the week prior to the phone registration.

Holiday observance at Area College

Belleville Area College will observe Friday, July 4, as the Independence Day holiday. Since the college is regularly closed during the summer on Fridays as an energy conservation measure, employees will be given an optional day off. Thus, offices and classes will be uninterrupted for the holiday.

The college will observe Friday closings until Aug. 8, when it will be open for fall registration.

Students may register for fall classes any Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday except for the period of July 28-31. Telephone registration will be in effect from Aug. 4 through Aug. 15.

To fight inflation and unemployment, productivity must match consumption

By PAUL SULTAN

The root cause of the unemployment and inflation problem now confronting us is that we are drawing claims on our national product at a pace that is exceeding our contributions to that product.

Put more simply, our gross national product is exceeding our gross national product.

The effort on the part of a society to consume more than it is willing (or able) to produce can be temporarily obscured to the population by the simple expedient of giving people more voucher claims (viz., money).

One would reasonably expect that with an improved money income, one could enjoy an improved real income. But to the extent that this expectation is generalized — and to the extent that there is no counterpart growth in the real national product — we are playing a shell game.

This is the so-called "money illusion" in which individuals immediately translate improved money income as improved real income.

Our reluctance or incapacity to understand the source of this "simple" problem is partially explained by our economic heritage, and the principles of economics that account for the dynamics of the growth process.

Adam Smith explained that the strongest single force motivating human behavior was self-interest. A capitalist society could experience unbounded prosperity if the ethical and political restraints on this acquisitive impulse were removed.

The key to the growth process, or what has been represented as the most remarkable "invention" of Western society, is the full and free expression of acquisitive drives.

While such motives might be described as "private vices," economists concluded that — however base or vulgar the trait — it was capable of producing a magical transformation of the economy.

This required a second assumption: While the economic man may give undivided attention to self-interest and accumulation, the process of accumulation would inevitably and automatically generate benefits for the larger society.

The invisible hand would work its magic. It would be difficult to imagine a situation where private accumulations of wealth did not generate benefits, however intended, for the larger society.

Thus, when we attach the invisible hands to the economic man, we are able to conclude that "greed is good" or that private vices produce public benefits.

This required, of course, that economies had a resource base that would permit development or expansion of the national product.

Since 1776, economic incentives for self-gain have been the engine of growth for our society. We have, in more recent times, given a polite veneer for this motivational structure with attention to the social responsibilities of abundance. But the acquisitive impulse is the tap root for our economic system.

So why do we have an inflation and unemployment problem today? Would not labor be ingested to the fullest extent possible in the growth process, and would not the cornucopia of abundance smother or drown any inflationary problems?

In the classical construction of the blueprint for economic activity, the excesses of individual groups claiming more than they produced would result in their unemployment. For employers reaching for higher prices than the public was willing to pay, we have the glut of goods of overproduction.

Thus, the constraining influence on greed was the negative penalties one suffers for being unrealistic. Excessively high wages would produce unemployment. And the experience of unemployment would represent the solution to unemployment.

One did not need to attend a seminar on economics to capture this truth. It would slowly penetrate our subconscious as we experienced hunger pangs.

It is critical to appreciate that the gravitational force that gave stability to the system, and prevented its excess, was the possibility of hardship for those who behaved foolishly or irrationally.

The market would communicate its message clearly: If a person were unemployed, one could hardly equivocate: the realities of unemployment involved the impersonal judgment of the market regarding the valuation (or at least the outside bound of valuation) of the human agent.

But for this mechanism to work, society must be willing to "starve" unemployment. Because of the massive dimensions of unemployment in the 1930s, reaching beyond 25 percent of the labor force, most people quickly concluded that this was a systemic problem. It did not reflect the greed or reckless grab for money of irrational workers.

Indeed, some individuals desperate for employment were willing to work for less than minimum wage, and were still unable to find a job. Clearly, then, it was not the individual that was failing the system. The system was failing the individual.

Out of that reality, we generated a series of ad hoc mechanisms for job generation. The central element in the new arsenal to diminish unemployment was fiscal policy.

By manipulating the money flows into society through budget deficits — and, if need be, budget surpluses — one could control the price structure and, more pointedly, gently lift the price structure. This would have the effect of lifting the "value productivity" of employees.

Put more simply, we could enhance the value of the human agent by making use of the printing press, or by the magic of the Federal Reserve Bank accepting a government bond, (the government's promissory note) in exchange for a credit line with the Federal Reserve Bank.

A second major event was the passage of the Employment Act of 1946 with overwhelming Congressional support, pledging the government's obligation and intent to maintain "high" levels of employment, production and purchasing power.

The stage is then set for the contemporary problem. Individuals still draw inspiration from Adam Smith, and the noble consequence of private "vices" viz., claims for more personal income. The union movement embraced the essentially conservative doctrine of the system in the 19th Century, when Samuel Gompers explained that the union movement wanted "more, more, more... now."

If high wages, say, produce unemployment, we simply invoke the Employment Act and the fiscal obligations of government to set afloat additional money streams, assuring that the price structure is raised sufficiently to absorb high-cost labor.

Here, the dynamics of the situation begin. The only way to be assured of success is to make certain that wage increases exceed price increases.

Thus, the premium is placed on occupational and professional groups who do not ask for money wage and salary increases that offset price increases in the past, but increases that anticipate the price increases in the future.

The inflationary process, in effect, involves a redistribution of income from the organized to the less organized, to the powerful from the less powerful, to the aggressive from the less aggressive. And, indeed, to those who contend that might makes right, away from those who believe that right makes might.

The problem, in simple terms, is that once we have decreed a government obligation to maintain high levels of employment, we generate pockets of bargaining power within our market systems. And such power will inevitably be deployed.

We have today the specter of domestic brinkmanship, of the rapidly spreading looter's mentality raiding the national treasury and the private sector commons.

We have a built-in reflex that the public officials we have elected are important allies in pressing for differential benefits from both the public and private sector.

Meanwhile, our attention to this domestic scramble for resources has absorbed almost all of our attention.

The decay of our capital infrastructure, a savings rate of three percent, a capital formation assignment of only 10 percent of the GNP, the rapid decline of basic research and development, the rapid increase of foreign patent holdings in the U.S. concurrent with the decline of U.S. holdings — all these explain the erosion of the private sector and the collapse of its abilities to provide the entitlements claimed on all sides.

This, of course, sets the stage for the major contribution we now face: Uninhibited expectations for real income increases, with unembarrassed neglect of even the most simple and obvious expedients necessary to satisfy those claims.

We could attribute this to the innocence of youth, the kind of mindless appetites that one might expect of a five-year-old. But it is hardly the behavior pattern one can attribute to the innocence of a nation celebrating, in recent years, its 200th birthday.

The problem is not one, then, of youthful innocence. Nor is it really one of senility. It is more directly a problem of a U.S. public reluctant to accept economic realities.

Dean Acheson once claimed that Americans had a capacity for doing — at sunset — that which they refused to do at noon. The sunset is fast upon us.

It is obviously time to embrace the new economic realities. It is obviously time to reassert those ancient varieties.

Consumption requires — and must be preceded by — production.

Aircraft carrier in exercise in Pacific

Navy Airman Apprentice David L. French, son of Eugene L. and Harlene R. French of 751 27th Place, Granite City, participated in exercise "Rimpac 80" in the Pacific Ocean as a crewmember aboard the aircraft carrier U.S.S. Constellation, homeported in San Diego. While deployed, his ship operated as a unit of the U.S. 7th Fleet.

"Rimpac 80" involved 41 ships, 200 aircraft and 20,000 sailors and airmen from Australia, Canada, Japan, New Zealand and the U.S. During the remainder of the cruise, he and his shipmates participated in additional training exercises and had the opportunity to visit several Far East countries.

The Constellation is 1,062 feet long, carries a crew of 2,800 and can accommodate 2,150 personnel and 85 aircraft assigned to an attack aircraft wing.

A 1976 graduate of Granite City High School South, French joined the Navy in August 1976.

MARKETING DEGREE TO GRANITE CITY

The University of Dayton (Dayton, Ohio) has awarded 1,188 associate, bachelor, master and doctorate degrees at its spring commencement exercises. This was the largest spring commencement since 1972, when 1,204 degrees were awarded, and the third largest in UD history.

Kathleen Mary Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Thompson, 2548 Waterman Ave., received the degree of bachelor of science in marketing.

Cooperative approach to construction of new plant

A building under construction for Precoat Metals on Route 3 in Granite City has recently been designated an IMAGE project. IMAGE is a joint labor-management group in Southern Illinois dedicated to cost-efficient, on-time construction work in the area.

Ralph Korte Construction Co., Inc., is the general contractor on the project. Ralph Korte, president, is one of the founders of IMAGE.

Route Three property, owned by Illinois Power Co., is expected to become a large industrial park. Precoat Metals is the first company to begin construction in the complex.

IMAGE, formed two years ago, currently has over 17 management groups and 20 labor groups supporting its philosophy of cooperative construction practices.

Lengthy strikes and jurisdictional disputes are becoming a thing of the past in Southern Illinois due to the efforts of IMAGE, Co-Chairmen Bob Weis and Byron Farrell say.

The Precoat Metals building is one of several major IMAGE projects currently, including a $100 million renovation and expansion under way at Granite City Steel.

Study membership expansion

The Venice-Madison Advisory Committee met last week at the Venice City Council Chambers to discuss potential members who have expressed interest in the committee. It was agreed that these people would be contacted and information about the advisory group sent to them prior to the next meeting. Eagle Park representation will also be pursued.

Plans for a project relating to making the community more aware of a variety of resource available to them such as social, economic and medical services was discussed. It was decided that the Venice Community Homecoming Association would be contacted regarding plans for this effort to occur in conjunction with the homecoming celebration. The advisory group devised a list of individuals and agencies that it would like to see represented on a panel discussion to familiarize the community of the resources available. Also mentioned was the idea of developing an informational resource packet for distribution to citizens. In addition, a pamphlet on the Advisory Committee's role and function will be printed.

The membership list for the committee will be revised and updated with those members contacted who have not been active.

The Committee will make plans to attend a Venice City Council meeting in the near future to inform the aldermen of the current activities and goals of the committee and to enlist their continued support.

The next meeting was scheduled for Monday, June 30, at 5:30 p.m. at the Venice City Council Chambers.

Supreme Court speeds Matoesian promotion

The Illinois Supreme Court has "speeded up" the advancement of Associate Judge A. A. Matoesian from associate judge to circuit judge.

Matoesian, 42, who is of Granite City, won the Democratic nomination to fill the vacancy created when Judge William Beatty was named a United States District Judge. Since no Republicans have filed for the seat Beatty vacated, Matoesian is unopposed for election in balloting this November.

Supreme Court Justice Joseph Goldenhersh said that his victory in the primary shows that Matoesian is entitled to become a circuit judge before anyone else, so he asked the court to appoint Matoesian to fill the unexpired term of former Circuit Judge Harold Clark, who resigned in April.

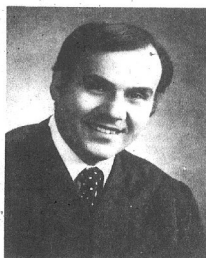

The appointment will be a temporary one, if Matoesian wins the November general election for Beatty's seat, Goldenhersh said. When Matoesian begins serving his elected seat in December, the Supreme Court will vacate the Clark seat for a new appointment.

Matoesian now earns $45,000 a year as associate judge and will earn $5,500 more per year as a circuit judge.

In addition to appointing another replacement for Judge Clark this December, the Supreme Court will be asked to fill the vacancy which will occur when Circuit Judge Moses W. Harrison resigns, also in December. Harrison is an unopposed candidate for the Appellate Court seat vacated by Judge George Moran Sr. in September.

Harrison currently is filling Moran's seat by appointment.

Associate Judge Philip J. Rarick is being mentioned as a leading candidate to fill one of the circuit judgeships which will open in December. Although he is still an associate judge, Rarick received special permission to hear felony cases and fill the duties of a circuit judge, since there was a shortage of judges on the circuit bench in the Third Judicial Circuit (Madison and Bond counties).

Associate Judge George Moran Jr. of Granite City and Republican Attorney Gerald Cohn are among those who may be considered for the other circuit judge vacancy, according to courthouse observers.

The advancements of Matoesian and two other associate judges to the circuit bench will leave at least three associate judge vacancies, which will be filled by majority votes among the eight circuit judges.

News notes

MCS Engineering is seeking $219,900 from the Madison County government for repair of an intercommunication system in the circuit clerk's office. A $750 original estimate has been paid, leaving $2,169 unpaid on work performed when unforeseen installation problems were encountered.

State Rep. Sam Wolf has not accepted contributions from either backers or foes of the Equal Rights Amendment, which he has voted for. Stop ERA contributed $500 to his 1978 election campaign but the check was not cashed, Wolf said.

The Illinois House has approved SB 1710 to end a $30 tax on transfers of auto titles between individuals. The tax was enacted in the fall of 1979.

The Illinois House last week decided against requiring a referendum on a future Madison, St. Clair and Monroe counties transit district taxation, but did amend the plan to exclude any geographic area that was not a part of the Bi-State bus service on June 1. As the June 30 adjournment date nears, pending state legislative topics also include workmen's compensation, school funding and public aid.

Granite City Rotarians on Tuesday heard a program on the Quad Club, which helps chemically dependent persons. Non-members are being sought for the board of directors, along with building renovation funds. Those willing to consider assisting the Quad Club may contact Owen Rollberg or Jim "Bud" Simpson, it was announced.

Republicans have chosen a candidate to challenge Democrat Robert Mays Nov. 4 for appellate judge, and will submit a name July 20 to the State Board of Elections. The board has indicated it will not accept a candidate from party committees. Upon such a rejection, GOP officials plan to file a court suit.

The U. S. Supreme Court has struck down 6-3 an Illinois law that barred all but labor-related picketing at private homes. The court said labor issues are no more deserving than other public protests. In another case, the court said Wednesday individuals can sue state and local governments for damages if such an agency violates a legal right.

Sentencing of Illinois Attorney General William J. Scott for tax evasion has been delayed. He was transferred Tuesday to the coronary care unit of Northwestern Memorial Hospital, Chicago.

Cong. Melvin Price voted with the majority as Congress Wednesday approved 234-168 the registration this summer of young men born in 1960 and 1961.

Donald Gill of Daytona Beach, Fla., is expected to be named as the new Illinois education superintendent.

CEASE-FIRE SIGNED
On July 30, 1974, Greece, Turkey and Britain signed a stand-still cease-fire on Cyprus to end fighting which had continued after the United Nations-sponsored cease-fire.

Music Under Stars series

The Granite City Park District "Music Under the Stars" choruses will present their second concert of the season at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Wilson Park Ice Rink.

In keeping with the week long Fourth of July celebration at the park, the choruses will present many patriotic songs, as well as selections from "South Pacific."

A highlight of the program will be an audience sing-along of familiar patriotic tunes according to Mary Ann Bright, director.

Among the selections to be presented by the choruses are:

"This Land Is Your Land," "Honey Bun," "The Star Spangled Banner," "There Are Many Flags in Many Lands," "The Pledge of Allegiance," "We Believe," "Let There Be Peace on Earth," "I Want to Live," "Younger Than Springtime," "Over There," "There Is Nothing Like a Dame" and "Try to Remember."

The sing-a-long will include: "Battle Hymn of the Republic," "This Is My Country," "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground," "God Bless America," "America the Beautiful," "America," "Dixieland," "Give My Regards to Broadway," "Yankee Doodle Dandy" and "You're a Grand Old Flag."

Admission to the concert is free and ample seating is provided by the park district.

Rehearsals for the next concert, scheduled July 15, will begin Thursday, July 3, Mrs. Bright said.

Elementary through junior high students rehearse from 1 to 2 p.m. and adults from 7 to 9 p.m.

All rehearsals are held in the vocal room at Granite City High School South.

Anyone in the community wishing to sing with the choruses is invited to attend the rehearsal, Mrs. Bright said.

"New participants are most welcome," she added.

Grasshoppers are plentiful

Don Kuhlman, University of Illinois extension entomologist, reports that grasshopper populations in many areas of Illinois have reached levels that warrant control. Many Madison County farmers are encountering grasshoppers in fence rows and grassy areas.

The birthday of Esther McFalls was also celebrated by the family.

Mrs. Ann Goldasich of Cedar Lake, Ind., and Mrs. Mary Wylie of Whittier, Calif., have been house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schenckhoff of Madison.

MAN IS SHOT

Lewis Tarr, Jr., 36, of 2139 Monroe St., was admitted to St. Elizabeth Medical Center at 1:45 a.m. Friday with a gunshot wound to the right temple. He said he was shot with a .22 caliber gun and was hit with a club, but no police reports on the incident were made.

FURNITURE IS TAKEN

Earl Harper, Glen Carbon, who is moving into a house at 928 St. Thomas Road, Mitchell, discovered Friday that a door knob had been twisted off with some type of tool and furniture, antiques and a telephone, all worth about $600, had been stolen.

Picnic for New Hope class

A picnic was held last week in the Fellowship Hall of New Hope Baptist Church for members of the Adult Sunlight Class.

"Sunshine in My Soul Today," the class theme song, opened the program with Mrs. Elsie Durbow, present.

Roll call was answered with verses of scripture.

"Thankful for Simple Things" was the title of a devotional topic presented by Cathy Fea. Games focusing on the Bible were directed by Jewel Duncanson.

Events taking place at a previous meeting were percent tax to raise the revenue that has previously been lost, so one cannot anticipate the full impact, this will change regarding fuel consumption.

This would leave the city with only $200,000 for street repairs, which would give each ward in our city $17,142.86 each to improve themselves. We know that this fund would hardly be enough to repair one street.

The Finance Committee further recommended that the city abolish the Air Pollution Department. The reasons for this decision are clear-cut and sound. Our air pollution department monitors pollutants in our air.

This service is merely a duplication of what the State Environmental Protection Agency and the Federal

EPA are attempting to do. Furthermore, the State of Illinois EPA has expressed a desire to monitor this area.

Local industries must abide by these state and federal guidelines or be in violation of the law, and therefore be fined accordingly. If there is a complaint filed with the state or federal EPA it is immediately investigated. These two agencies can literally walk into an industry, check out the compliance, and take the appropriate action to remedy the alleged infraction of clean air standards already established.

It must also be stressed that the federal and state EPA have enforcement powers far in excess to the city's powers, for according to the city ordinances, the local air pollution department has no enforcement rights. Our recommendation would be to abolish the Air Pollution Department, but keep the board for its suggestions and recommendations regarding local air pollution standards.

If we abolish this department, the savings this year would be approximately $80,000 in tax levies. We cannot strongly enough urge you to abolish this department, since it is a waste of money. The duplication of services is nothing more than reporting and monitoring the same infractions that the federal and state EPAs seek out. Our tax dollars also fund the federal and state EPAs.

and on about a 45 degree angle to where Evans was, rescue workers said.

Paramedic Art Asadorian climbed in the furnace and down the ladder to Evans. While attempting to ignore the temperature and 16 foot dropoff under the ladder, Asadorian was able to strap Evans to a backboard and aided EMT (emergency medical technician) George Andrews and Pipeman Mike Nesbit in pulling Evans along the ladder and out of the blast furnace.

Aided by Granite City Steel employees, they placed Evans in a basket and lowered him on ropes about 30 feet to the ground, where Shift Commander Harry Hillman and Pipeman Denny Worthen were conducting ground operations and coordinating the rescue attempt.

"The fire department boys did a tremendous job. It was just like on television to see them work. They should be congratulated," one worker commented after the rescue.

Evans was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center with injuries to his back and left leg. There were no fractures, but he was admitted for multiple injuries, authorities said.

attended 96 percent of the meetings held since January, 1976.

Barry Loman and Homer Huber of the Plan Commission have 89 percent attendance averages; and Ed Heinagle has been 78 percent of the commission meetings since January, 1976, city records show.

Other members of the Plan Commission, and their attendance averages in the years 1976 through the present, are: Henry Gabriel, 46 percent; Ed Boyer, 42 percent; Paul Worthen, 35 percent; and Jim Holland, 14 percent. Newer appointees to the commission are Roy McGee, who has attended 10 of the last 11 meetings, and Fred Cunningham, who has been at six of the seven meetings since he was appointed.

Among the six Board of Appeals members, Paul Heinagle has the highest attendance, at 90 percent of the meetings. Harriett Hoff has been at 35 of the 36 meetings held since January, 1976, a 97 percent average. Dick Kerch has been to 34 of the meetings for a 94 percent average and Fred Barr has been at 33, an average of 91 percent.

Chairman Tony Michell, whose hospitalization in 1979 caused him to miss nine meetings, still maintains a 69 percent attendance average, having been at 25 of the 36 meetings since January, 1976.

Poorer attendance records are maintained by Ed Bodman, who has been at only nine meetings for a 25 percent average, and Jim Valicoff, who has been at 30 percent of the meetings, but has not attended one meeting since October, 1977.

The attendance figures represent only those meetings actually held, either in person or occasionally by telephone, which, Bill Dallas Jr., secretary of the two boards, gets individual approval on the telephone of a specific zoning request.

Cub Pack 19, snow cones; Granite City Trust and Savings Bank, balloons; and the Warrior Booster Club, ticket sales.

To climax the festival on the Fourth of July, the night-time sky of the Quad-Cities will be illuminated with brilliant colors, bursting from star shells, and immensely high shooting aerial bombs making thunderous sounds.

The traditional fireworks display commences at 9 p.m. Friday, July 4, in Edison Park, with a resident alerting party to the show starting by a series of aerial announcer shells.

Studying the birds and trees

A student project that captured the interest of Mrs. Arlene Wyatt's third graders at Parkview School involved preparation of displays and notebooks related to varieties of birds and the trees where they build nests and where small animals live.

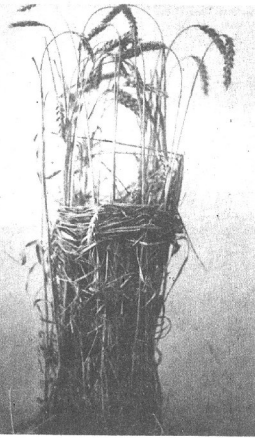

Above photograph—A barn swallow's nest is inspected by Mark Harper (left) while Allen Kujawa holds a large pine cone. A squirrel hole is visible in the tree trunk at the left, and there is a woodpecker hole in the tree trunk at the right.

meadowlark's nest which was built in a wheat field. The class found it to be "amazing" that birds are capable of such intricate weaving.

Right photo—Looking at the meadowlark nest and other portions of the exhibit are (left to right) James Mathenia, Amy Cant and Jody Woods (foreground).

Class members assembled detailed information on the distinguishing aspects of bird families and included not only nests but eggs, feathers and drawings of birds. They also located bark, leaves, seeds, worms and vines.

Evans acquiring RR Leasing Co.

Evans Transportation Company, Rolling Meadows, Ill., a wholly owned subsidiary of Evans Products Company, has agreed in principle to acquire R&R Leasing Company, Inc. of Phoenix, Ariz. R&R is to become a part of the company's Engineered Products Division.

R&R, with shops at Phoenix, on six acres, and Granite City, on 10 acres, purchases off-lease railway and truck repair equipment and 'rebuilt' it to reliable standards for short-term rental or lease.

R&R has on-going agreements with major railroads and financial lessors as sources for such re-markable products.

Evans has a manufacturing and sales base in its Railway Tract-Work operation, Bethayres, Pa., purchased in 1978.

RTW already has instituted long-term leasing of maintenance-of-way items. Now, the acquisition of R&R Leasing will produce added re-marketing capability for Evans Tract-Work Leasing. The Railway Tract-Work plant will rebuild equipment, providing further geographical advantage for R&R short-term leasing and rental in the eastern U.S.

Charles Newman, original owner of R&R Leasing, will continue in the enterprise in the capacity of consultant. All management personnel of R&R, composed of experienced railroaders with substantial technical backgrounds, have indicated their intent to remain with the new entity.

John C. Felten, president of Evans Products' Transportation System & Industrial Group, said, "We believe that 'melding' of R&R Leasing with the Evans maintenance-of-way manufacturing and long-term leasing activities will enhance the diversity and availability of equipment. 'It will provide a variety of financing alternatives to support market requirements more completely on a project or seasonal basis."

George B. Lynch, vice president and general manager, Engineered Products Division, said: "The combined organization will become the largest private rental company for maintenance-of-way products in the U.S., with the means to expand the equipment portfolio substantially in the future."

Evans Products Company's Transportation Systems & Industrial Group includes five divisions involved in railcar manufacturing, rebuilding and leasing, railcar components, truck trailer manufacturing and leasing, steel castings, and heavy metal fabrications.

Evans Products Company (NYSE & PSE), with headquarters in Portland, Ore., is a leading retailer of building materials, a producer of custom-built homes, and a manufacturer of building and specialty metal products.

Jones surrenders on murder warrant

William L. "Billy" Jones, 25, of 2712 Denver St., surrendered to police late Thursday night and was charged with murder and armed violence.

Jones is charged with stabbing Terry L. "Toby" Wickam, 26, of 8836 Denver St., with a knife in the abdomen at Victor's Tavern, 2001 Illinois Ave., June 13.

Police questioned Mr. Wickam on the deathbed and alleged he named the man who stabbed him. A manhunt followed, but officers were unable to locate Jones until Thursday afternoon.

Detective Kip Pomeroy was able to contact Jones, who agreed to bring his attorney and meet with Pomeroy late Thursday night at an Edwardsville hotel, authorities said. After their meeting, Pomeroy accompanied Jones to the Madison County Jail at Edwardsville where Jones surrendered, Pomeroy related.

Bond has been set at $250,000. He is charged with armed violence and three counts of murder, each dealing with a different type of intent in Mr. Wickam's murder.

Witnesses to the murder said Mr. Wickam was seated at a table in the tavern with three other persons when a man entered the tavern and walked over to the table with a hand in his pocket.

The victim stood up and

Faces 3 charges

Paul Dale Henry, 27, of 669 Barkley Ave., Mitchell, was charged with disorderly conduct, unlawful use of a weapon and criminal damage of property after his car went off the roadway at Seventh Street and Madison Avenue at 11:05 p.m. Friday.

Officers saw the car off the road and questioned Henry, who said a yellow car ran into the off the road and the driver of the yellow car then beat him.

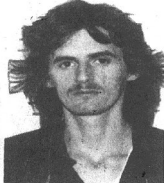

Madison officers alleged he used loud and abusive language and refused to stop yelling, so he was arrested. While he was being booked at the Madison Police Department, Henry allegedly took a pair of metal knuckles from his clothing and threw them down the hallway.

At 2:35 a.m. Saturday, officers saw water running from his cell, down the hallway into the lobby of the police department and out the front door. They investigated and alleged Henry had stuffed his tee shirt in the cell drain and was running water on the floor.

The water damaged the carpeting in the office of Chief of Police Donald Bridick, it was reported. Henry allegedly resisted efforts to move him to an isolation cell and some force had to be used, officers said.

ARREST IN BEATING

Gerald W. Clark, 22, of 2127 Edison Ave., was charged with battery and criminal damage to property Thursday on complaints signed by his stepfather, Bob Dagon, 2127 Edison Ave. Dagon alleged that Clark beat him in the Ingleside Tavern, 23rd Street and Madison Avenue, Sunday night, and then threw a brick through the window of Dagon's truck, parked near the tavern.

BILLY JONES

the other man, alleged to be Jones, swung a hand at him twice and fled, with the owner of the tavern chasing him. He was able to escape. He left a 10-speed bicycle at the tavern and dropped a folding knife with a blade length of 2 3/4 inches inside the south doorway of the establishment, police said.

At first, patrons of the tavern thought Mr. Wickam had just been struck but they later realized he had been stabbed twice in the abdomen.

He died a short time later at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, after naming his assailant, officers related. Jones remains in custody in the county jail, pending a preliminary hearing.

Chairman
Granite City Bank

One question which arises very often in family financial planning sessions is, "How much money do we really need to have in a savings account?" Frankly, there is no general answer that fits everyone. It depends on the specific situation of the individual family.

For instance, if your immediate goal is to be able to buy your own home within say three years, then the down payment (which will be required) can be a major factor in determining the amount which should be deposited in a savings account each month.

If you are simply trying to determine how much should be set aside for emergencies, this too can vary from one family situation to the next depending on individual circumstances. Not long ago the basic "rule-of-thumb" was that the family savings account should be maintained at no less than three months living costs.

Now many authorities on financial planning are strongly recommending that for safety's sake this should be expanded to four to six months living costs. Whatever your individual goals and needs, our bank officers will be happy to work with you to help establish the right savings plan for your family.

Sewer committee keeps an expensive promise

Despite the engineer's recommendation to the contrary, the Madison County Special Sewer Committee voted last week to have the contractor of the new sewers excavate a nine-foot deep channel for the lateral sewer under the Mitchell Ditch.

Sewer committee member Morris Miles said the lateral is needed so one resident who lives off Warsaw Lane in Mitchell can hook his home's sewers into the line at the point he was told his connection would be.

He said the man asked that his home's sewer be connected directly to the county's 24-inch concrete collector sewer and was told by the contractor that it would be.

Instead, however, the contractor then made a "T" connection for the tap on beside the man's house, on the lateral line, Miles said. The resident, believing that he could tap-on at the rear of his yard, constructed a garage and driveway at the side of his home, blocking access to the T connection put in by the county, he added.

The engineer for the project, Ed Juneau, recommended against a separate lateral under the Mitchell ditch, noting it may be damaged by future dredging in the Mitchell ditch. He also objected to direct connections to the 24-inch concrete line, noting it could cause infiltration problems in the future.

Miles said he feels the county was responsible for the man's problem, since he was erroneously told where his T would be, and the county should correct the error.

Chairman Louis Whitsell agreed and said it is unfortunate that the committee members have not been better informed on where the

T connections are to be placed, since some of the problems now being encountered could have been avoided.

In other business, the committee studied the possibility of including an $80,000 monitoring system for the lift stations in the program. The monitors would feed to one location, letting maintenance personnel know immediately if one of the lift stations is malfunctioning.

Installation of the monitoring system would

Blood drives this week

Blood drives will be held at two locations this week to help avoid a shortage of blood during the Fourth of July weekend, a traditional time of blood shortages.

Auto crashes and other holiday accidents combine with a shortage of donors, due to vacations and summer activities, to create a shortage each July, Jo Ann

Barnett, co-chairman of the summer community blood drive, explained. The drive is sponsored by Church Women United.

Donors can give from 10 a.m. to 2:45 p.m. Tuesday and from 2 p.m. to 6:45 p.m. Wednesday at St. Margaret Mary School, 1900 St. Clair Ave.

The other site is St. Mary's School, 10th Street and Lee Avenue, Madison, which will accept donations from 2 to 6:45 p.m. Thursday.

SELLING A HOME TODAY IS NO JOB FOR THE NOVICE.

A few simple questions would demonstrate our point. Try to answer them: a) What is the best method to price a home? b) By income, cost, or competitive market analysis? c) Is the buyer required to furnish a credit report? d) Is the appraisal of a home's value based on assessed valuation? e) Is it better to wait before showing a home to ask the buyers to imagine their future in the rooms?

If you've found even one of these problems difficult to answer, perhaps the knowledge and experience of a Neighborhood Professional would be helpful.

To us, because of our training, they're just a few simple questions. Call your Neighborhood Professional today for the answers.
